Re: Petitions Regarding the Use of Signal Boosters and Other Signal Amplification Techniques Used with Wireless Services; WT Docket No. 10-4

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On November 7, 2011, Joseph Marx, Linda Vandeloop, William Roughton and the undersigned, of AT&T, talked with Commission staff at their request via telephone about the above captioned docket. Representing the Commission were Becky Schwartz, Joyce Jones and Moslem Sawez of the Mobility Division.

AT&T supports rapid FCC action to curb the spread of unauthorized signal boosters that cause harmful interference to public safety and commercial wireless networks. As the record in this proceeding demonstrates, the illegal use of signal boosters is a widespread and well-documented occurrence, resulting in dropped calls, including 911 calls, as well as affecting 911 accuracy. AT&T expressed its interest in reaching a consensus solution to allow for the distribution of consumer boosters, but noted that it has continued concerns that booster use may affect the accuracy of 911 calls on AT&T's network because AT&T is a GSM carrier using a network-based solution. Since the Commission sets 911 location accuracy standards for carriers, it must reconcile those rules with any consensus solution allowing for sale of consumer boosters.

The parties also discussed alternatives that would allow a voluntary, consensus solution allowing for the sale of consumer boosters that would also be enforceable by the Commission.

If you have any questions about this filing, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,
